MECHANISMS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN PAHO AND
NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS

The annexed document (CE78/20) on the development of mechanisms for the establishment of official relations between PAHO and nongovernmental organizations was submitted to the Executive Committee at its 78th Meeting in June.

A number of applications have recently been received from nongovernmental organizations requesting membership in PAHO, and it has become increasingly clear that, although criteria exist for consideration of such applications, a procedure to expedite the decision-making process needs to be drawn up.

The Executive Committee, after studying the matter, approved the following resolution:

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE,

Having examined Document CE78/20 on the establishment of official relations between the Pan American Health Organization and nongovernmental organizations, submitted by the Director;

Bearing in mind Resolution CSP14.28, approved by the XIV Pan American Sanitary Conference, formulating the criteria which should govern the establishment and maintenance of official relations between the Pan American Health Organization and nongovernmental organizations; and

Recognizing the need for establishing procedures for the application of these criteria,

RESOLVES:

To recommend to the Directing Council that it approve a resolution along the following lines:

THE DIRECTING COUNCIL,

Having examined Document CE78/20 submitted by the Director to the Executive Committee at its 78th Meeting;

Recognizing the need to formalize the procedures for applying the criteria established by the XIV Pan American Sanitary Conference (CSP14.28); and

Desiring to facilitate the consideration by the Governing Bodies of these subjects,

RESOLVES:

1. To instruct the Director to develop procedures for the establishment of official relations with nongovernmental international organizations.
2. To authorize the Director, on the basis of these procedures, to make the appropriate decisions in regard to the applications submitted.
3. To instruct the Director before communicating his decisions to the applicants to inform the members of the Executive Committee of the background data he used in making the decisions.
4. The objection by any member of the Executive Committee to a decision of the Director shall be brought to his notice within a maximum period of 60 days in order that the topic may be included in the agenda of the succeeding Meeting for a decision by the Executive Committee.

MECHANISMS FOR THE ESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICIAL RELATIONS BETWEEN PAHO AND NONGOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATIONS

International contacts among scientists and health workers, through voluntary associations and professional societies, long preceded the establishment of intergovernmental health organizations. Such professional associations and societies in the health field, because of their special expertise and their voluntary and independent character, can help and be helped by the intergovernmental organizations. The general policy defining relationships for this purpose is covered in Article 26 of the Constitution of the Pan American Health Organization and Article 71 of the Constitution of the World Health Organization (Annex I).

To implement Article 71, the First World Health Assembly (1948) adopted a set of working principles governing the admission of nongovernmental organizations into official relations with WHO (Annex II). These principles cover the criteria on which admission should be based, the procedures to be carried out for this purpose and the privileges associated with official relations. The Third World Health Assembly (1950) made clear (Annex II) that the large number of NGOs already in official relations with WHO automatically have the same relationship with the Regional Offices, including that for the Americas.

With regard to the Pan American Health Organization, the XIV Pan American Sanitary Conference (1954), by means of Resolution CSP14.28 (Annex III), adopted criteria essentially similar to WHO's, without establishing procedures or specifying privileges. The Directing Council, on the recommendation of the Executive Committee, has established ad hoc official relations with certain international associations in the Americas (Annex III). A number of applications for admission to official relations with PAHO are now pending (Annex IV).

It would seem desirable at this time to formalize procedures, through a simple process that is not too time consuming for the Governing Bodies and which adequately safeguards the eligibility of the NGOs from the standpoint of suitability for official relations with PAHO.

The rationale for establishing official relations between the Pan American Health Organization and an NGO may be outlined as follows:

Purpose and Significance

A. For the applicant

1. Through official meetings and other means access is possible to an international forum, and communications with the Governments of the Hemisphere are facilitated.
2. Important information on scientific and organizational aspects of international health work might be available, both directly from the Organization itself and, through it, from Member Governments.
3. Improved avenues may be established for contacts with related organizations in the Americas who are not affiliated as NGOs.
4. A direct approach may be made to the Organization on the development of programs of mutual interest.
5. The recognition inherent in acceptance for official relations, meaning that PAHO standards have been met, confers an important international prestige.

B. For PAHO

1. A prime avenue may be opened up for wider contact with professionals and non-professionals throughout the Americas.
2. Needed information may more easily be gathered and professional collaboration may be more readily obtained in carrying out PAHO's program.
3. An important source may be provided for wider consultation on scientific matters, to supplement PAHO's own advisory groups, as needed.
4. Additional points of view and opinions may be made available at the meetings of the Pan American Sanitary Conference or the Directing Council when either of these Governing Bodies is considering matters of mutual interest to the Organization and the NGOs.

5. Information on PAHO activities, programs and recommendations may be given wider dissemination through the scientific journals and other publications of the NGOs.

Procedures for Admission and Periodic Review

Criteria for admission to official relations have been established by the XIV Pan American Sanitary Conference, but further specifications are needed to make this procedure operational. Mechanisms need to be set up to specify exactly what documentation must be submitted by the applicant; the various stages to be undertaken in the initial review process; the roles to be played by the Secretariat and the Governing Bodies in review and decision; and the frequency, procedure and standards for reviewing status of an already admitted NGO, with particular regard to interest, responsiveness and participation.

PAHO may wish to follow a procedure similar to that of WHO (Annex II), or may prefer, in order to avoid further extending the agenda of the Governing Bodies, to ask the Director to establish specifications for applying the criteria for admission. It may also wish to delegate to him the study of the application and the final decision, with provision for Executive Committee review of this decision.

Recommendations

Since it appears that there is considerable potential advantage to expanding the number and utility of relations with NGOs, the Executive Committee might wish to review the subject and propose a procedure to the Directing Council.

Alternative guidelines for such a procedure might be:

- 1) The Directing Council might establish a standing subcommittee of the Executive Committee and assign to it a review and decision procedure similar to WHO, including the drawing up of specifications for applying the criteria and carrying out preliminary reviews.
- 2) The Directing Council might instruct the Director to prepare specifications and procedures for the initial review, to determine the frequency of further reviews, and delegate in him the authority to carry out the procedures with requisite care and diligence. Before notifying the applicant of admission or rejection, the Director would inform the Executive Committee, or a standing subcommittee, of his decision, and at the same time transmit to it the background material on which he had based his decision, with the request that any member objecting notify him within 60 days.

In the absence of such objection, the Director would, after the 60-day interval, notify the NGO. In the event of an objection, the Director would place the matter on the agenda of the next meeting of the Executive Committee for final decision.

Regardless of the alternative chosen, the Director should present annually to the Executive Committee and to the Directing Council or Pan American Sanitary Conference a report on the status of NGOs, detailing the applications received, the initial and periodic reviews undertaken, and the decisions reached, and include a complete list of the NGOs in official relations with PAHO.

1. Criteria to be fulfilled before a non-governmental organization becomes eligible to be considered for relationship with the World Health Organization under Article 71 of the Constitution

The World Health Organization should, in relation to non-governmental organizations, act in conformity with any relevant resolutions of the General Assembly or Economic and Social Council of the United Nations, and the following criteria should be met before an organization can be regarded as eligible to be considered for relationship :

- (i) The organization shall be concerned with matters falling within the competence of the World Health Organization.
- (ii) The aims and purposes of the organization shall be in conformity with the spirit, purposes and principles of the Constitution of the World Health Organization.
- (iii) The organization shall be of recognized standing and shall represent a substantial proportion of the persons organized for the purpose of participating in the particular field of interest in which it operates. To meet this requirement, a group of organizations may form a joint committee or other body authorized to act for the group as a whole.

the same subject on an international basis shall present its views through its government or through the international non-governmental organization to which it is affiliated. A national organization, however, may be included in the list¹ after consultation with, and with the consent of, the Member State concerned, if the activities of the organization are not covered by any international organization or if it offers experience upon which the World Health Organization wishes to draw.

2. Procedure for admitting organizations into relationship with WHO

(i) The Board's Standing Committee on Non-governmental Organizations, composed of five members, shall consider information submitted by non-governmental organizations, voluntarily or by invitation, and shall make recommendations to the Board; it may invite any such organization to speak before it in connexion with the organization's application. Bearing in mind the desirability of ensuring valuable contributions to the work of the World Health Organization in terms both of quality and quantity, the committee may recommend postponement of consideration or rejection of an application.

(ii) In accordance with the provisions of Article 71 of the Constitution, the government concerned shall be consulted with regard to possible approval of any national organization.

(iii) The Board, after considering the recommendations of the Standing Committee on Non-governmental Organizations, shall decide whether an organization is to be admitted into relation with WHO.

Whenever the Health Assembly, a committee or conference convened under its authority, discusses an item in which a related non-governmental organization is particularly interested, such an organization, on the invitation of the chairman of the meeting or on his acceding to a request from the organization, shall be entitled to make a statement of an expository nature, and may, with the consent of the meeting, be invited by the chairman to make, in the course of the discussion of the item before the meeting, an additional statement for purposes of clarification.

(ii) Access to non-confidential documentation and such other documentation as the Director-General may see fit to make available through such special distribution facilities as the World Health Organization may establish.

(iii) The right to submit a memorandum to the Director-General, who would determine the nature and scope of the circulation.

In the event of a memorandum being submitted which the Director-General considers might be placed on the agenda of the Health Assembly, such memorandum will be placed before the Executive Board for possible inclusion in the agenda of the Assembly.

BASIC DOCUMENTS

Principles to Govern Relations between WHO and Regional and National Non-governmental Organizations¹

1. Regional or national non-governmental organizations which are affiliated to international non-governmental organizations with which WHO is in official relations

These are, by definition, in official relations with the regional organization under the terms of the resolution of the First World Health Assembly concerning relations with non-governmental organizations,² and therefore no formal action by the regional committee is required.

2. Regional or national non-governmental organizations which are affiliated to international non-governmental organizations not in official relations with WHO

In order that WHO may facilitate the formation of strong international non-governmental organizations in the various technical fields, arrangements with the above-mentioned regional or national organizations will be on the basis of informal working relations.

3. Regional and national organizations for which there is no international non-governmental organization

These can be admitted into working relationship with the World Health Organization, subject to consultation between the Regional Director and the Director-General.
