PAHO AWARD FOR ADMINISTRATION

REPORT OF THE PAHO ADMINISTRATION AWARD COMMITTEE

The Members of the Committee, Drs. Baltazar Caravedo, P. F. Robert de Caires, and Rogelio Valladares, met on two occasions to examine the appraisals and observations received concerning the merits of the three candidates submitted by the Governments of Chile, El Salvador, and Peru: Dr. Carlos Montoya - Chile, Coordinator of the Maternal and Child Health Group of the Department of Public Health and Social Medicine of the University of Chile; Dr. Miguel Angel Oliva - El Salvador, Director of the Western Health Region of El Salvador; Dr. Eduardo Zapata Salazar - Peru, Director of Personnel of the Ministry of Health. Two members of the committee received the complete documentation on these candidates in due time, and the third member requested additional time to enable him to examine the documents.

The members of the Award Committee finally met on Monday, 10 July 1972 at 10:45 a.m., and unanimously decided to award the 1972 PAHO Award for Administration, to Dr. Eduardo Zapata Salazar of Peru for his work on the study, preparation, and implementation of a model of a personnel administration system for the health sector in his country.

The Committee draws the attention of the Executive Committee to the fact that Dr. Zapata's contribution was a written work, as is required in the even years pursuant the Award Rules and that, in addition, it was put into practice by the above-mentioned candidate. Since the first condition does not exclude the second, the Committee has taken this decision because it believes that the candidate selected is justly deserving of the Award.
